PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on December 29, 2014, Registrant Intel Corporation filed a Declaration of Ian K. Boyd In Support of Registrant's Motion to Dismiss. Regrettably, the document intended to be attached as Exhibit A (an email already in possession of Petitioner's counsel as he had previously sent it to counsel for Registrant) was omitted due to clerical error. Exhibit A is now attached to this Notice of Errata.

Dear Mr. Boyd,

Please find attached FlickIntel's responses to Intel's objections. I added some more discovery, it's nothing new - mostly clarification of previous requests and wording intended to address some of Intel's objections. What is new is that I filed a petition to cancel one of Intel's asserted trademarks. That's why Ms. Basile is CCed on this email. I petitioned because it's too late to counterclaim on the genericness of "intel" and this way the abbreviation for intelligence, genericness of "intel" and other matters are undeniably relevant in at least one proceeding. You may want to move to combine the actions. If so, I won't oppose the motion. I also agree to a joint motion to combine the proceedings as long as I get to approve it before filing.

Sincerely,
Richard Krukar
